Q&A

- Q. I am going through a divorce, how will it affect my deferred compensation account?
- A. If the terms of your divorce specify that your ex-spouse is to receive a portion of your assets, you must provide the plan with the Qualified Domestic Relation Order (QDRO). A “hold” will be placed on your account until the assets are separated.
- Q. I am retiring at the end of July and would like to defer as much as possible from my accruals (SCAT) check. What do I need to do?
- A. If you have been a participant in the plan for at least 6 months, you may be eligible to make a contribution to your deferred compensation account from your SCAT check. Contact your Board representative several weeks before your separation date for assistance with the application process.
- Q. I am on an approved leave of absence, how will this affect my outstanding deferred compensation loan?
- A. Participants on an approved leave of absence can have their loan payments suspended for a period not to exceed one year. The participant must immediately begin bi-weekly payroll payments upon return from the leave. The loan balance will be re-amortized to ensure the loan is satisfied within the maximum loan term. If the original loan term was less than allowed by the Internal Revenue Code, the loan may be re-amortized to extend the loan period to the maximum period allowed.
- Q. How do I increase my contribution amount?
- A. Contact your provider(s) either by phone or online to adjust the amount you wish to contribute to your account. Please note, the plan must adhere to federal and state regulations which mandate that deferral changes must be received by the plan prior to the first of the month in which the contribution will take effect. For example, if you contact your provider on August 1st to make a deferral change, the change will be effective with your first paycheck in September.
